The connection to the network should be automatic.

I been running SuSE for about 3 or so years now. If it wasn't for games I wouldn't even bother with Windows anymore.

because games run like ass in emulation... you can do WINE or Cedega but they don't support all the titles i play right now.

VMWare has Direct3D support now but when I tried the beta the games still didn't work at all.

Sad that Epic Games still doesn't have UT3 linux client out yet.
