
ELKC 28.0 - Kansas City

Posted by DeathsDoor - 2007/10/28 13:14

ELKC 28.0 will be on November 24th! Thanksgiving Day weekend, no school, maybe no work and full bellies from all of that holiday feasting what a better way to spend it by playing video games all night long! Lots of people are already signed up as we are introducing Halo 3 into our lineup for the console side and we will be playing some of the new games on the pc side.

Come check our website for more info: ExtremeLANKC.com

We understand family events will take priority for some and thats alright. We just figured on giving those of us that are sitting there with no work, no school and wanting to get out and enjoy getting in some old fashioned gaming, we will be open!

Lots of new games will be introduced and played! Yes, we will have our regular tournaments as well but, we will be playing anything anyone wants to get online with just to get everyone having some fun.
